Memorial Garden

The small plot of land was given to the Edenfield community after the Second World War as a memorial garden.

1954 - Opened 24th December 1954.

2005 – Rededicated 4th December 2005.

Garden area with wrought iron arch with an inscription "Edenfield Memorial Garden", and a rough hewn stone of remembrance with an inscription "IN MEMORY OF THOSE FROM EDENFIELD WHO FELL IN TWO WORLD WARS AND IN OTHER CONFLICTS 'their names will live for evermore'."

2005 – "The hard work to transform a neglected site in Edenfield into a tranquil haven is complete.

The Edenfield Memorial Garden was dedicated on Sunday at the end of two years' devotion by the Edenfield and District Horticultural Society to remember the fallen heroes of the Second World War.

The refurbishment includes new paving, seating, planting and eight mosaic paving slabs created by local children illustrating Edenfield features.

One of the more prominent mosaics is that marking the life of Mr Jeff Demaline, a local magician, whose life has been recorded with a top hat, rabbit and playing cards pictured on one of the slabs.

The garden in Market Street had become overgrown but members of the Edenfield and District Horticultural Society worked with different community groups to help bring it back to life. The garden, which cost more than £20,000 to transform, was paid for through grants from the Aggregates Levy Sustainability Fund (ALSF), the Lancashire Environmental Fund, Awards for All, and the Lancashire Small Sites Reclamation Programme. Donations have also been made by Lord Shuttleworth, Edenfield Village Residents' Association and the horticultural society.

More than 50 people turned up to the event, including members of the British Legion, to witness the Mayor and Mayoress of Rossendale, Ann and Geoff Cheetham open the garden.

Pupils from Edenfield and Stubbins primary schools and Edenfield playgroup planted a variety of bulbs ready to bloom next spring and Marshall's quarry donated an engraved stone to commemorate the lives lost during the two world wars and other conflicts."

Coach & Horses Inn, 163 Market Street, Edenfield.

1792 - "According to court books of the Manor of Tottington, held at Lancashire Record Office (under reference DDHC1) John HOUGHTON had bought the pub on 14th November 1795 for £211 1s.

There are several other references to the Coach and Horses in the records of the Manor of Tottington between 1792 and 1815. Presumably built to accommodate new coach traffic arising on the new Bury, Haslingden, Blackburn and Whalley turnpike (enacted in 1789) the inn is first referred to in January 1792 when Thomas DUCKWORTH, of Edenfield, innkeeper, mortgaged 'that new erected messuage or dwelling house situate in Edenfield now used as the wine tavern'. Later in the same year Thomas DUCKWORTH sold the property to William HOPKINSON, of Edenfield, innkeeper, when it was described as a 'large, commodious and well accustomed public house with two housesteads thereto adjoining.'
The pub changed hands several times and by 1812 had become a 'capital messuage or dwelling house now used as an inn or public house known by the name or sign of the Coach and Horses Inn with the cottage, stable, brewhouse, outbuildings, garden and appurtenances situate in Edenfield'. In 1814 it was sold to Richard HAWORTH of Higher Ashenbottom for £488 10s,"

1939 Register – Coach & Horses, John A. Entwistle (65) Publican and his wife, Bertha (60) Publican and Household Duties. Their son, Jack (25) Warehouseman Packer, Felt & Carpet Works.

1945 – "An especially interesting account of a hearing of the licensing sessions, the annual procedure by which publicans reapplied for their right to trade, appeared in the Ramsbottom Observer of February 2nd 1945: Coach & Horses, Edenfield POLICE OBJECT TO RENEWAL OF LICENCE Objection was taken at Bury County Licensing Sessions yesterday to the renewal of the licence of the Coach and Horses Hotel, Market Street, Edenfield. Mr. H.C. Riches (Oldham) appeared for the owners, Baxter's Glen Top Brewery. Inspector Ball gave details of the business and domestic accommodation, and said the trade was "working class". It was a tied house. Trade figures for 1942, 1943 and 1944 showed about 31 barrels of beer per annum, 760 to 720 dozen bottles of beer and stout, and 136 to 107 bottles of wine and spirits. Rent was £20 a year, which had been paid by the owners since the outbreak of war.

There were two fully licensed houses within 300 yards. The objection was on the grounds of redundancy. Considering the trade done and the necessity of the trade, witness considered the house was not required. Sergt. Fallowfield (Ramsbottom) agreed with the statements of the inspector. Mr. T.F. Bayley, Ramsbottom Sanitary Inspector, said nine houses had been demolished in the vicinity in recent years.

Mr. F. Butterworth, a Bury valuer, said the building was worth about £600. It would cost about £150 to convert into two houses.

Mr. J.A. Entwistle, the 70-years old licensee since 1937, said it was a family house, used chiefly by men and their wives. Some of the younger element who were customers were now in the Forces. He had a catering licence, provided teas and had "put up" people. It provided him with a comfortable living.

Supt. Kay: You say you are not grousing? You pay no rent. How long is it since you paid any rent?

The licensee: Not since the war.

The Clerk (Mr. J. W. Smith): Why don't you pay any Rent? Have you got a good brewery?

The licensee: It must be. (Laughter).

Supt Kay: You don't pay any rent because if you did you could not make a living?

"Oh no" replied the licensee, who added, "It is not a big house for beer, but we do well in spirits."

Supt Kay: You are not doing more than half a barrel a week.

John J. Mills, a Hey wood motor driver, gave evidence as to the house providing meals.

John T. Hamer, East-street, Edenfield, a retired brick-layer, said he had been a customer forty years. It was a clean and comfortable house. He liked the landlord. The Clerk: Do you like what they sell? - Hamer: I should not go every day if I didn't. (Laughter).

Richard Dearden (aged 68), of 70, Market-street, Edenfield, said he had been a customer since 1937. He liked the house and the beer.

Mr. Riches, for the owners, contended that the house was serving a need of the neighbourhood. What was consumed in the house was not evidence of redundancy. It was built in 1796 [sic] and they had to remember that beer and spirits were in short supply today. This was not the time to assess its value whether it was redundant or not. He asked the justices not to disturb the present licensee in the eventide of his life but to give him a chance until the lads come back and see if it was a redundant house then.

The licence was referred to the Compensation Authorities in Salford but was renewed in June 1945."
